

Practical training for any professional who may be required to write legal reports or to appear in a court of law.

Specialists (experts) of any kind may be asked to assist the legal system as a direct result of their professional knowledge, training or experience.

They may be drawn from a wide range of disciplines or occupations.

They are called to be experts because they are experts in their field - however writing expert reports or giving expert evidence is another matter altogether.

What our clients are saying....

Thank you for a very informative & interesting course. It has made me more confident in my role and demystified the legal world
Medical Practitioner

I attended the two day workshop presented by Anna Davey and found the insight and real court room experience to be invaluable. I went into the court room to present evidence more aware of the process which allowed me to deliver my evidence in a professional and helpful manner to the court. I thank you Anna for giving me the tools and wisdom of your experience. I would definitely recommend this course and have done so to many of my colleagues.
Engineer

I loved the moot courts being held in an actual court with actual judges and lawyers.
Scientist

Well run and beneficial. Made me understand the process of court
Nurse

Thank you for a very informative 2 days.
IT Professional
